Bentsen blasts Quayle, Republicans

By Scott Perry
Staff Writer

The race for the White House made a brief pitstop in Carbondale Wednesday, taking on fuel for the final stretch of the presidential campaign.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, speaking before an enthusiastic crowd at the Student Center, set his sights on getting the Michael Dukakis record straight with the voters and shooting down Republican vice presidential candidate Dan Quayle.

"I'm a Quayle hunter," Bentsen said. "And we opened the season in Omaha this year."

Bentsen was welcomed to Southern Illinois and the University by Chancellor Lawrence Pettit and by his colleagues in the Senate from Illinois, Sens. Paul Simon and Alan Dixon.

Bentsen outlined the goals of a Dukakis-Bentsen administration, saying education and economic strength will go hand in hand in returning America to its top spot in the world.

Bentsen said creating a strong trade policy would open up markets that would make the country grow and expand.

This expansion, Bentsen said, would be fueled by the young people getting out of college and looking for jobs in the workforce.

"Good jobs at good wages is what it is all about," he said.

Bentsen said excellence in education would be a first priority of a Dukakis-Bentsen administration.

"Attending college should not be a privilege, but a right of all Americans."

Bentsen said under a loan plan proposed by Gov. Dukakis, "We will make that dream a reality."

Under the Dukakis plan, students would pay for their loans from deductions from their paychecks. The loans could be paid for immediately or paid over a lifetime.

Bentsen said this type of program would go beyond the present program and it would be much easier to qualify for.

"When you first get out of college you are not making the money it takes to pay off such a debt," he said.

Bentsen attacked the Reagan administration for cuts in funding Pell grants and said he would work to raise federal funding.

"You as university students are taught to search out those

Most people at the Southern Illinois Rally for Sen. Lloyd Bentsen Wednesday seemed to have no problem with the content of the speeches—the problem was trying to see the vice-presidential candidate.

Some crowd members had to stand on their tiptoes. When enthusiastic Bentsen supporters waved their signs, it became impossible for people in the back of the Student Center Ballrooms to see even the stage.

Jim Waddal, a researcher at the University fisheries, said, "The average height of Americans is obviously higher than I thought."

When the first speaker asked the crowd to "Please rise" for the national anthem, a ripple of laughter went through the crowd. The audience had not been supplied with chairs and was already standing.

Despite the difficulty in seeing the political guests, the audience gave an excited welcome to Illinois Sens. Paul Simon and Alan Dixon. The reaction to Chancellor Lawrence K. Pettit was not so warm. He was greeted with a mixture of claps and boos.

A frenzy of clapping followed Dixon's introductory speech.

Bentsen kept the crowd going with comments such as, "Don't just watch his (Bush's) lips—watch him, judge him."

Bentsen said the Republican party image-makers think, "If it sells, package it—if it looks good, nominate it," referring to Republican vice-presidential candidate Dan Quayle.

After the rally, Noreen Vollbach, a Morris Library employee, said she got to shake Bentsen's hand.

"He gave me a good firm handshake," she said. "And what he said about the

Food Service ponders bid on Marriot contract

By Kimberly Clarke
Staff Writer

When the Marriott catering contract is up at the Student Center in February, President John C. Guyon wants to employ one food service that will take care of the whole University, Edward Jones, director of University Housing, said.

"We need to prepare ourselves as though we are bidding for the contract," Jones said.

A meeting was held Wednesday night between the management of University Food Service and the union members to discuss the possibilities of a catering service taking over the jobs of Food Service.

"If we are going to compete with the catering services, the question is who is going to do the job better?" Jones said.

Union members received a letter from Jones in which he stated that the Food Service was "on the ropes," and the members called the meeting asking why they were blamed for current problems in Food Service.

"We don't know why or how we got on the ropes, but we want it explained, we want to be a part of the process in finding out the problems," Bob Baker, union president, said.

Jones said being on the ropes means that regardless of how the service got there, they are there.

"Everyone needs to do their job, we need external efforts to outline procedures and inventory, get ordering in shape, and get menus working, we need to run a tighter

Same old union talk provokes faculty fight

Three representatives in the collective bargaining issue met Tuesday to discuss who had the most grassroots, but in the end the real grassroots—the 50 or more faculty members who attended the meeting—had its say.

What started as a forum to discuss why collective bargaining was good for SIU and what union, if any, could best represent faculty, ended up in a showdown.

Iranians observe 1979 U.S. Embassy takeover

MANAMA, Bahrain (UPI) — Iranian demonstrators marking the ninth anniversary of the U.S. Embassy takeover Wednesday carried chunks of charred debris they said came from the Iran Air jetliner shot down by an American warship in July. The Islamic Republic News Agency said thousands of Iranians taking part in the rally denounced the United States as "the No. 1 enemy" and set fire to an effigy of Uncle Sam and an American flag in front of the former embassy grounds.

Israeli political parties seek religious support

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Israel's two major political parties, each unable to form a government alone because they lack enough voter support, courted religious factions for their backing Wednesday in trying to set up the next ruling coalition. Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir, Foreign Minister Shimon Peres and their negotiating teams met throughout the day with the four ultra-Orthodox religious parties that made a surprisingly strong showing in parliamentary elections Tuesday.

Aquino moves date of U.S. military departure

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — President Corazon Aquino, placing her nation on a potential collision course with the United States, said Wednesday a treaty on U.S. military bases expires one year before the deadline considered final by Washington. Aquino's statement put her in conflict with U.S. officials who have said the Pentagon has until September 1992 to vacate Clark Air Base and Subic Bay Naval Base.

Iran, Iraq discuss return of prisoners of war

GENEVA (UPI) — Iraq and Iran traded charges Wednesday on the repatriation of at least 70,000 prisoners of war following the resumption of U.N.-sponsored peace talks aimed at reaching a permanent settlement to the Persian Gulf War. Before meeting with U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar, Iraqi Foreign Minister Tariq Aziz and his Iranian counterpart, Ali Akbar Velayati, accused each other of exploiting the POW issue.

Vietnam says it will return 21 MIA remains

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vietnam has informed the United States that it will return the remains of what may be 21 Americans missing in action from the Vietnam War, the Pentagon said Wednesday. U.S. aircraft will pick up the remains Thursday in Hanoi, and fly them to the U.S. Army Central Identification Laboratory in Hawaii for identification.

U.S.-Soviet talks on radar station unresolved

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S.-Soviet talks in Geneva on the status of the giant Soviet radar at Krasnoyarsk ended Wednesday without agreement, the State Department said, reiterating the facility must be torn down. The meeting of technical experts took place after the Soviets said they had some new proposals and were ready to clarify Soviet positions in the controversy surrounding the phased-array radar in eastern Siberia.

Space shuttle Atlantis hauled to launch pad

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — The space shuttle Atlantis was hauled to the launch pad Wednesday under a cloak of secrecy for blastoff at the end of the month on a classified flight to place a hush-hush Pentagon satellite in orbit. With the Soviet Union's new shuttle, Buran, mounted on a launch pad at the Baikonur Cosmodrome in Central Asia, it is the first time in space history that two reusable shuttles built by different nations stood on launch pads awaiting blastoff.

State's attorney candidates point to experience

Grace campaigns on his 16-year record as lawyer

By Loris Roberson
Staff Writer

W. Charles "Chuck" Grace, Democratic candidate for Jackson County State's Attorney said, that although this race is not heeded as much as the presidential campaign, voters need to consider the candidates' qualifications.

Grace said he feels he is qualified to handle the state's attorney position because of his administrative experience and his interactions with people in the court system.

Grace said, "I've asked people to consider this question: 'As a rape victim or as a person who has been accused of a crime, would you want someone representing you who has been a lawyer for four years and had only four jury trials, or would you want someone who has been a lawyer for 16 years with over 100 jury trials?'"

Grace's credentials include 16 years as a criminal and civil trial lawyer, 12 years in private practice, three years as a public defender and a position as the assistant state's attorney.

Grace said his opponent, Republican candidate Michael W. Maurizio, has only been a lawyer for four years and had four jury trials.

"I don't belittle his experiences," Grace said. "My question is what kind of experience is more important in running an attorney's office?"

Grace's administrative experience include management of the public defender's office where he handled the budget and delegated cases.

Grace hopes to alleviate the tensions between black residents in Carbondale and the Carbondale Police.

"It's a legitimate concern," he said. "We're seeing now a particular set of circumstances between Carbondale officers and black residents that lead to negative connotations."

"My feeling is that because of the state's attorney position, it has to take a lead in establishing some kind of continuing and ongoing communication."

Grace said he also feels strongly about capital punishment. "I want to make it clear that while morally and religiously I was brought up to question the death penalty, I have consequently stated that I will apply it because that's the law."

"I will not apply it across the board as Maurizio has said he will, but I believe that some kinds of situations merit consideration."

Besides feeling that everyone should get out to vote, Grace said that students who are voting should consider the candidates' experience with student populations.

"When I was in the public defender's office, over half of the cases were student related," he said. "I feel that having represented students, it has given me an understanding of the student population."

Grace is an attorney at Feirich, Schoen, Mager, Green law firm in Carbondale. His wife Barbara is an instructor at SIUC and they have two children, Chip, 16, and Katey, 3.

A 1972 graduate of Bates College of Law, Grace said he became interested in law enforcement because his father was an FBI agent.

Maurizio says his background much more varied

By Diana Mivelli
Staff Writer

Republican Michael W. Maurizio, candidate for Jackson County State's Attorney, said his experience and background will help him understand the problems people have on a day-to-day basis.

Maurizio said his background includes three years in the Army, 11 years as a police officer, four years as a practicing attorney and managerial experience.

"My background is much more varied than Mr. Grace's. He was a high school student, then he went to college, then to law school and then he started practicing law," Maurizio said.

Maurizio said he was influenced to run because of his background. "I decided that I would like to be state's attorney in the late '70s and early '80s when I was a policeman in Carbondale."

In 1980, he was accepted into law school and left the police department with intentions of some day running for this job.

"At the time when I was a policeman, I didn't feel that the state's attorney took any of my thoughts or the other policemen's thoughts into consideration when he was coming up with disposition on the cases that he was working on."

"I felt like I could do a better job than the state's attorneys in the past have done, and working with the police agencies who I felt were very important in the job of prosecution."

Maurizio said he would like to develop a trusting relationship between the police and state's attorney's office by more involvement from police agencies in the decision making processes of the state's attorney.

"The final word will be mine, but I think the police agency involved in the cases should have some input into Maurizio's experience includes three years in the Army, 11 years as a police officer, four years as a practicing attorney and management experience.

Michael W. Maurizio

what they think of certain dispositions."

Maurizio said he would like to open a line of communication with the defense attorney so both can negotiate their cases in some meaningful way so people can be moved quickly and fairly through the criminal system in Jackson County.

He said a relationship needs to be built up with the business people, assisting them particularly in retail theft and bad checks because these problems cost everyone money.

"The judges and state's attorneys work together on a day-to-day basis and the petty problems that have occurred in that office in the past need to be worked out. They need to be worked out in the judges' chambers or in the state's attorney's office, not in the press," Maurizio said.

Maurizio said he would like the state's attorney's office to be trusted by all aspects of the community. "I would like to develop this trust."

"First and foremost, you've got to do your job, whether you make a certain people angry at certain times or not. Overall as long as you do your job fairly, equitably and in a consistent manner providing the same regardless of their race or religion, you begin building the trust and respect of the community."

AN ENDORSEMENT OF COLLECTIVE BARGAINING

I have recently taught at a college where tenure was abrogated by the administration, with the compliance of a faculty too frightened to take a united stand on the principle of academic freedom. I have since been very sensitive to administrative arbitrariness and disregard for academic due process. I feel that it is essential that faculty participate fully in all policy decisions affecting their conditions of employment as professionals.

I am especially concerned about the areas which affect women, such as:

Affirmative Action. At SIUC, only 7.5% of Full Professors and 13% of Associate Professors are women; there has been a decline of 9.5% in full time women faculty since 1980-1981.

Grievance Procedures and Sexual Harassment. Neither university policy has provisions for mandatory and binding arbitration. The final decision is left in the hands of the administration.

Pay Equity. Women faculty earn an average of 9.29% less than men at all ranks except instructor.

Child Care and Maternity Leave. There are no provisions for these at SIUC.

NEA has taken strong stands on all of these issues and has been effective in both collective bargaining negotiations and in court decisions in improving working conditions for professional women in academe.

Taxes, not tuition merit student vote

WHAT'S A VOTER to do? With both presidential candidates wearing the mantle of the "Education" president, do college students really have a choice.

While the federal government can help university students by way of grant programs, research contracts and loan programs, the state government is more likely to have an impact on higher education.

Remember the consequences of the Legislature's failure to pass a tax increase. Since fall semester 1987 tuition has increased three times. A 4-percent tuition increase was recommended by the Board of Higher Education and went into effect in the fall of 1987.

In July 1987 the University's budget was cut by $6.2 million, or 4 percent, and the Board of Trustees passed an 18-percent tuition increase effective in spring of 1988.

THIS PAST legislative session was more of the same. Gov. James R. Thompson vowed there would be less money for education if the Legislature did not pass a income tax increase. The Legislature passed on the proposal entirely and did not even bring the tax increase issue up for a vote, largely because of the efforts of House Speaker Michael Madigan. The state found enough money to build a 5.7-percent personnel salary increase into the budget, but not enough to make up for the $6.2 million cut from the previous year or the effects of inflation.

Last month, the Board of Trustees approved an 18.3-percent tuition increase.

Tuition increase have become all too common. In the past 20 years, tuition has increased 16 times. Annual tuition has increased from less than $200 in 1968 to $1,560 next semester.

The past two years, though, have been particularly disheartening.

STUDENTS, FACULTY, two unions vying for collective bargaining on campus, even the local Chamber of Commerce all lent their support to a tax increase. A public opinion poll found general support for a tax increase for education among the taxpayers of the state. The tax increase effort, particularly in July, was a broad-based mix of constituencies. Still, the tax increase plan never got off the ground and tuition has gone up again.

Students at SIU-C will in January begin paying more than 33.3 percent of the cost of their education. The Illinois Board of Higher Education repeatedly has recommended that tuition be held to no more than 33.3 percent of instructional costs.

Tuition will provide 15.7 percent of the University's budget this year, an increase of 1 percent over last year.

The state's portion of the budget continues to decrease and is down to 43.8 percent of the budget this year. That portion was once more than half of the budget.

THE UNIVERSITY is at a crossroads, as far as tuition is concerned. The administration, if the current funding crisis continues, will decide soon between remaining accessible to the less economically advantaged and remaining competitive with other schools in the state. SIU-C has a tuition lower than any state institution except the Edwardsville campus.

With so much in the balance of the state Legislature, we believe it is fair to ask one question before casting a vote for a candidate for the state Senate or House.

The question: Are you willing to buck the House leadership and take a political risk by voting for a tax increase to provide more funds for higher education?

Our intent is not to turn this election into a one-issue campaign. But, if we do not speak at the ballot box on this issue, we can be sure we will not have a voice in Springfield next year.

Editorial Policies

Signed articles, including letters, viewpoints and other commentaries, reflect the opinions of their authors only. Unsigned editorials represent a consensus of the Daily Egyptian Editorial Board, whose members are the student editor-in-chief, the editorial page editor, the associate editorial page editor, a news staff member, the faculty managing editor and a School of Journalism faculty member.

GOP drops Democrat names, though Lincoln led their party

SLATS GROBNIK looked puzzled as he asked: "What ever happened to Abe Lincoln?"

Lincoln? He's still on Mount Rushmore. Why do you ask?

"Well, has he kind of fallen into disgrace or something? You know, like in Russia, where they kick old leaders out of the history books and take down their statues?"

Of course not. Honest Abe is revered, one of the two or three greatest presidents in our history.

"That's what I always thought. But something funny is going on."

Such as?

"Like this news story I just read, where President Reagan makes a speech about what a great guy Harry Truman was."

I READ THAT.

"And isn't he always talking about what a great guy Franklin Roosevelt was?"

Oh, he's very fond of FDR.

And I read where Danny Quayle said something good about Truman. And so did Bush. And I think Bush said something nice about FDR, too."

Yes, they've spoken highly of them.

"Well, maybe I missed something, but I thought Truman and Roosevelt were Democrats."

OF COURSE they were.

"Then how come all these Republicans keep dropping their names? Why don't they talk about Republican presidents?"

Now that you mention it, that is curious.

"I mean, I can see why they don't want to talk about Nixon, because he got kicked out of office. Or about Hoover, because he started the Great Depression. Or Coolidge, because most people don't know who the heck he was. But wasn't Abe Lincoln the father of their party?"

That he was.

"Then why don't they ever mention him?"

IT'S PROBABLY just an oversight.

"I don't think so. Nowadays, with all those sharpies who run campaigns, there's a reason for everything. And there's got to be a reason why Honest Abe is getting the silent treat-shotguns and set their hounds on you. You ever notice who they name streets and highways after down there?

Who?

"Not Lincoln or President Grant, I'll tell you that. Everywhere you go, it's Jefferson Davis Boulevard, Jefferson Davis Highway. He's still their guy."

YOU MAY have something.

"Okay, what else is Lincoln famous for?"

Everybody knows that. He freed the slaves.

"Right. So you think Reagan and Bush and Quayle want to remind white voters about that?"

But it was one of Lincoln's noblest achievements.

"Sure, but it's not something they want to mention in a 1988 campaign. If Bush gets up and says: 'My friends, we are the Party of Lincoln, the great man who freed the slaves,' you know what some white Southerner is gonna say, or some white guy in a bungalow in Chicago or Cleveland?"

What?

"THEY'RE GONNA say: 'Oh, yeah? That Lincoln's worse than Dukakis. Dukakis only let that Willie Horton out on furlough. Lincoln turned the whole mess of them loose and now they're moving into my neighborhood.'"

I suppose it's possible that some might react that way.

"Possible. I emme tell ya, if the Republicans went around saying: 'Fellow Americans, vote for us because we are the party of Lincoln, the man who won the civil war and freed the slaves,' you know what would happen? Dukakis would get 70 percent of the vote. Even Lincoln's first name would hurt them."

I suppose it's possible that some might react that way.

"Possible. I emme tell ya, if the Republicans went around saying: 'Fellow Americans, vote for us because we are the party of Lincoln, the man who won the civil war and freed the slaves,' you know what would happen? Dukakis would get 70 percent of the vote. Even Lincoln's first name would hurt them."

Of course. It's essential to their battle plan.

"So what happens if Bush or Reagan or Quayle go down to Georgia to make a speech and they say: 'Remember, my fellow Americans, we are the Party of Lincoln?'"

THERE MIGHT be a certain coolness.

"A coolness? Hey, the audience is going to jump up and yell: 'You damn Yankee carpehagger, don't you know that Lincoln sent General Sherman through here and burned up my great-grandpa's house in Atlanta?'"

That's quite possible.

"You bet it is. You go down South and start talking about Lincoln and guys named Bubba are gonna grab their liberal."

"They'd say: 'Look, another liberal.'" the IEA sent out already have said that.

UP President Herbert Donow said his union was the right choice because it is a grassroots union.

Illinois Education Association President Gary Kolb said IEA also is.

When the forum opened up for questions from the audience, anthropology professor Jerome Handler monopolized the time by pounding Faculty for Free Choice panelist William Hardenbergh with loaded questions about why collective bargaining was necessary.

"We've worked our butts off and turned blue in the face making recommendations solely at the sufferance of the administration," he shouted.

Donow gave the example of an IEA staff member who didn't know that SIU had a School of Medicine.

"What would happen if we turned loose a staff who is informed to that degree?" he asked.

The mediator, sounding more like an IEA staff member lurking behind a cloak of impartiality, stepped in to remind Donow that the University of Hawaii kicked out the American Federation of Teachers because it eliminated tenure.

Hardenbergh expressed one of the most common fears among faculty — that only a handful of union activists and their lawyers would represent them.

"No," Kolb said "the contract will be negotiated by the faculty."

Hardenbergh said salaries wouldn't be much higher with collective bargaining.

"Collective bargaining at its best is a limited tool," he said.

The audience also wanted to know how the unions would increase salaries and Kolb told them, "I didn't get into teaching to make a lot of money."

But the union Kolb represents, the IEA, constantly sends out press releases telling how employees who bar collectively make more money.

Kolb said the union could place a cap on administrative growth.

"But what kind of cap?" Hardenbergh inquired. "A legislative cap is going to make a big difference," he said without explanation.

The College of Liberal Arts tried to provide faculty with an opportunity to ask questions about collective bargaining and get straight answers.

However, the forum turned into a scholarly version of a barroom brawl with vague talk of caps and grassroots.

Bentsen spoke out against the negative campaigning going on between the two candidates, and condemned George Bush for "a complete character assassination" of Dukakis.

"(You) deserve a campaign that speaks to the issues," he said. "That's what Michael Dukakis and Lloyd Bentsen have set out to do."

Bentsen said there was no plan to take the guns away from everyone in the United States like Bush claims Dukakis plans to do.

"I wouldn't be on a ticket that wanted to take my gun away from me," Bentsen said.

Bentsen said no formal policy has been discussed but said he sees nothing wrong with a seven-day waiting period before a gun can be purchased.

Bentsen said the furlow program the public has heard so much about is just another attempt by the "image makers" in the Bush camp to capitalize on one mishap in the system.

He said the program being used in Massachusetts was established by a Republican governor and adopted by Dukakis.

Bentsen also made reference to the federal furlow program, saying there are presently 7,000 drug-related criminals on the streets and 138 inmates that have escaped.

Bentsen said more needs to be done to take America back to the top in international trade, and said what is going on currently "is not good enough."

"You deserve a government that stands up for American workers, for American jobs and American farmers."

"We need to turn the trade deficit around," Bentsen said.

Gas fumes force evacuation of employees at Kesnar Hall

By Richard Goldstein
Staff Writer

Health Service administrators evacuated Kesnar Hall Wednesday as gasoline fumes spread throughout the building via the heating ducts, a University safety officer said.

University Safety Officer John Hicks said 2 quarts of gasoline that were accidentally poured down a drain by an Army ROTC cadet Tuesday afternoon erupted into a pit next to a vent. From there it was diffused throughout the building.

Pat Fabiano, acting coordinator of the Wellness Center, which is located in Kesnar Hall, said people on the floor started smelling fumes

The air on the first floor of Kesnar Hall was still rank with gas fumes Wednesday.

Tuesday, but when they arrived for work Wednesday morning the smell was intense.

Fabiano, who was in her office Wednesday afternoon, said Sam McVay, director of the Health Center, allowed Kesnar Hall employees to leave after 12:30 that day. McVay could not be reached for comment.

At 3:00 p.m. Wednesday the air on the first floor of Kesnar Hall was still rank with gas fumes though workers from the physical plant had been flushing the sewer lines all day to rid the gasoline from the system, Hicks said. The smell should be eliminated by today, Hicks said.

Only the ROTC office remained occupied downstairs. "We just opened the windows and kept on working," Lt. Col. Richard Keuhl said.

Keuhl said the ROTC had completed a training exercise and were cleaning its equipment when the gasoline was spilled. "Somebody inadvertently dumped some (gasoline) down the drain," Keuhl said.

FRED'S

Let Your Boots Go Free

Two weeks ago Donna Hale and her "perky" side-kick Irene came out to Fred's... They came not only for a good time but as Donna said, "to get some use out of her boots."

Remember, five years ago "Urban Cowboy" was still "In". Every West Rogers Parkian looked and dressed as if he was born and raised in Cheyenne, WY.

The fad is over but the closet full of country clothes remains. Well, dust off your duds, recycle your remnants, and buff up your boots because there still is a place where country is cool and more important FUN!

Fred's was country before, during, and now after the fad.

Judge believes courts exist to serve people

By Jackie Spinner
Staff Writer

Democrat Richard P. Goldenhersh said after 13 years of being a trial court judge in St. Clair County, he is qualified to be an appellate court judge.

The Belleville judge is running against Republican lawyer Tom Long for the position of additional judgeship A in the 5th Judicial Appellate Court.

"The biggest challenge I would face as an appellate judge is the volume of cases," Goldenhersh said.

The problem is being solved in part by adding the two additional judges, he said.

"The courts are there to serve people and a judge should disregard his personal belief," he said.

Goldenhersh graduated from Washington University in St. Louis with a bachelor of science in political science and a juris doctor from the law school.

He went into private practice in 1975 and was elected associate judge in July 1975 and is currently the circuit judge in the 20th District Judicial Circuit Court.

Goldenhersh said he is in favor of anything that gives people more rights.

The circuit court judge said he follows no label but would probably fall between liberal and conservative.

Women artists exhibit scheduled

"Works by Women," designed to show the strength and diversity of American women artists, will be displayed at the Mitchell Museum in Mount Vernon from Nov. 6 to Jan. 5.

The show, featuring the Gihon Collection, will show both recent works and those from over a century ago, with pieces by Georgia O'Keeffe, Grandma Moses, Helen Frankenthaler, Louise Nevelson, Lynda Benglis and Janet Fish.

Works by 12 women artists from Chicago also will be exhibited.

The exhibition is sponsored by Boatmen's Bank of Mount Vernon, the Gihon Foundation, the John R. and Eleanor R. Mitchell Foundation, the Illinois Arts Council and the National Endowment for the Arts.

The museum is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. Admission is free, and tours can be arranged by contacting the museum at least two weeks prior to the desired visit.

For details, call (618) 242-1236 during listed hours.

Bush, Dukakis hit key states to rally last-minute support

United Press International

George Bush and Michael Dukakis traced similar steps in critical states Wednesday, with the Republican riding high on a wave of favorable new polls and the Democrat toughening his anti-drug rhetoric and imploring supporters to "keep pouring it on" in the presidential campaign's final days.

Less than a week before Election Day, both the vice president and the Massachusetts governor hit states that likely hold the key to any hopes the Democrat has of pulling off an upset. However, in each of the states the race is either very close or Bush holds a lead.

The tone of the two campaigns matched the polling numbers, with an obviously buoyed Bush — who stumped through Illinois and Michigan before heading to Ohio — declaring that "things are moving in our direction" and insisting a victory next Tuesday would be a "mainstream mandate" and a "rejection of the failed liberal policies of the past."

However, Bush tried to temper his upbeat demeanor with a caution against overconfidence.

"I need you," the vice president told a screaming crowd in Grand Rapids, Mich.

"Every single vote counts this year and nothing's in the bag."

"I will not be outworked by the liberal governor of Massachusetts. We are going right down to the wire," Bush added. "I come before you at the end of a long, long journey. ... I ask for your vote."

Dukakis, meanwhile, began the day visiting his hospitalized wife, Kitty, in Minneapolis and then resumed his normal campaign schedule in Illinois and Pennsylvania. In contrast to Bush, Dukakis was extremely intense as he fought to convince supporters that a comeback win was possible.

"You can make a difference," the Massachusetts governor told a hastily arranged rally in Minneapolis.

"I ask you to keep pouring it on and pouring it on. There are millions and millions of voters out there who haven't made up their minds," Dukakis contended, arguing, "this is one election where millions of people are going to be looking and thinking and listening and not going to be making up their minds until very close to the moment when they go into that voting booth."

In Chicago, the governor showed rare emotion as he told a huge and wildly enthusiastic crowd he would strictly enforce a law to cut off all foreign aid to countries that refuse to aid the drug war.

"I'll work with other countries but I'll be damned if I'll let those countries send their poison into the United States of America," said Dukakis, who rarely uses such strong language.

Dukakis argued that he was tougher on the issue than Bush and contended that there was no foreign policy matter that should outweigh the war against drugs.

The latest nationwide polls have shown Bush holding a lead of 12 or 13 percentage points and most estimates of electoral votes have pointed to a Bush win of nearly landslide proportions.

operation," Jones said.

North Central Accreditation surveyed students asking them to rate the quality of campus services one to 48, Jones said.

University Food Service was rated 48th on the list.

From Feb. 13-15, the accreditation will be here again, only looking at the operation itself, Jones said.

"We have to compete in order to keep our business," Jones said.

Problems in Food Service

are being vocalized by concerned union members, as to whether Jones was behind them in their efforts to keep catering services out of Housing.

"I would like to believe that your commitment to Food Service is as strong as ours," Leon Carter, kitchen laborer at Trueblood, said. "We want you to walk in the chancellor's office and say you are behind us."

"If I wasn't committed, I wouldn't be here," Jones said.

LOS ANGELES (UPD) — In case there's any doubt about his expertise, just listen to Tom Hammond of NBC talk about equine genetics and why handicapping horses is risky business.

"Breeding horses is a crapshoot," said Hammond, co-host of Saturday's Breeders' Cup telecast from Churchill Downs in Lexington, Ky. "There are so many genetic factors, it is really an inexact science."

Hammond's work as a reporter on the first Breeders' Cup brought him a year-round contract with NBC.

doing it for two months. They have the same schemes as we do, they just do it better."

Although the Bears have been known for their powerful rushing game, which leads the conference at 272.6 yards per game, Rhoades said the Salukis will also be concerned with Southwest's passing game.

Coming into their game with the Panthers, the Bears averaged just 83.3 yards per game passing, but racked up 125 against Eastern's defense.

"They hurt Eastern Illinois throwing the ball. They had a very balanced attack against them. We have a difficult chore ahead."

Southwest coach Jessie Branch said the Salukis' wishbone is one to be reckoned with, but Rhoades said he hesitates to agree yet.

"Coaches tend to be complimentary toward the opposition," Rhoades said. "We are just getting started; we are not an accomplished offense by any means. I appreciate him saying that, but we've got a lot to do."

Western Relays. Last year, the men's team finished first and the women's team finished second.

Teams competing in the meet include SIU-C, Western, Bradley, Illinois State, Northern Iowa and Southwest Missouri.

The high-point of the fall schedule will be at the National Invitational Tournament on Dec. 2-4 in Tuscaloosa, Ala.

"We'll be peaking for the NIT meet," Ingram said. "We are one of the few teams to get invited back and it's our chance to show off the talent we have at Southern Illinois."

Last year, the men's team finished third in a field of eight teams, while the women finished sixth.

The first home meet for the Salukis is Nov. 18 at the Recreation Center pool against Illinois and Kansas.

Bears' players, officials stunned

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (UPI) -- Shock was the overriding reaction to news that Bears Coach Mike Ditka suffered a mild heart attack after his daily workout routine at the team's training camp.

"The first feeling this morning was shock," Bears President Mike McCaskey said. "Holy Christ, nobody expected something like this."

"I think everybody was shocked at first," said tight end Emery Moorehead. "You know it (coaching) is intense, but you wouldn't think a heart attack could happen."

"Everybody was really surprised," said linebacker Ron Rivera, who was present when McCaskey called the players together to inform them of Ditka's heart attack.

McCaskey said he would name an acting coach to guide the team before Sunday's game against the Tampa Bay Buccaneers at Soldier Field. In the meantime, offensive coordinator Ed Hughes and defensive coordinator Vince Tobin were in charge.

Tobin said the Bears had already decided their game plan for Sunday's game before Ditka was stricken but, he said, no one could really replace "Iron Mike," who led the Bears to their first Super Bowl championship following a 15-1 season in 1985.

"The emotional loss of Mike's leadership will be the hardest part to deal with."

what may have caused the heart attack other than Ditka being a Type-A personality, meaning he is frequently under stress and can become impatient and irritable.

Following hospitalization, Ditka likely will complete his recovery at home and continue an exercise program.

Alexander could not project a date for Ditka's actual return to work, or even whether the Hall of Famer would be allowed to watch the Bears play Sunday against the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

"You have to balance the anxiety and stress level of not watching the game against watching it," Alexander said.

McCaskey informed the players of Ditka's condition during a team meeting Wednesday morning.

"You know it's intense to be a coach, but you wouldn't think a heart attack could happen," tight end Emery Moorehead said. "I think everyone was shocked at first. We had our game plan (for Sunday). We want to have a big win on Sunday to show our support."

Mike Ditka suffers heart attack during workout

LAKE FOREST, Ill. (UPI) — Chicago Bears Coach Mike Ditka suffered a mild heart attack Wednesday during his morning workout at training camp but is expected to make a full and swift recovery, doctors said.

"With his intestinal fortitude, he'll recover quickly," said Dr. Jay Alexander of Lake Forest Hospital. "We'll be watching him very closely."

Ditka, 49, is listed in serious but stable condition. Alexander said the coach is expected to remain in the intensive care unit five to seven days.

"The pump function of the heart is excellent, so that's an excellent sign," he said. "There were no signs of heart pump failure."

Asked if a complete recovery is anticipated, Alexander said: "Barring anything unforeseen, I expect he will."

Ditka was taken to the hospital by two assistant coaches after complaining of chest pain following his daily workout in the weight room at the Bears' training camp.

Alexander said Ditka helped his situation by coming to the emergency room quickly. Doctors immediately administered a medication to open clogged arteries. An electrocardiogram was performed to determine heart damage.

"If we had to characterize it, we would consider it a mildly small heart attack," Alexander said.

Bears owner Mike McCaskey said he talked with Ditka, who was conscious but in pain. McCaskey said he expects to name an acting coach within the next few days. In the meantime, offensive coordinator Ed Hughes and defensive coordinator Vince Tobin likely will handle coaching duties.

"Right now, we're primarily concerned with Mike's health and his care," McCaskey said. "There's a great sense of hope and relief this will be a short episode and Mike will be back and lead us on to a Super Bowl championship."

Said Tobin: "The emotional loss of Mike's leadership will be the hardest part to deal with. Right now, we're still in a state of shock. It's a real blow."

Mixed pairs will compete at Northern

By Megan Hauck
Staff Writer

The men's gymnastics team will preview its season in a mixed-pairs meet, teaming up with the Illinois State women's team for the second time in as many years — and the competition is going to be fierce.

The meet will be Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m. at Northern Illinois.

The top competitor: Houston Baptist's Carlos Rodriguez, a world-class gymnast who represented Spain in the Olympic Games.

SIU-C will feature all-around competitors Brent Reed and Scott Belanger.

Reed competed in the mixed-pairs meet last year, but his partner from Illinois State injured her back and they had to forfeit in the semifinals.

Reed and his partner had compiled 9.5 on the high bar, 9.5 on floor exercises and 9.0 on the parallel bars — enough to earn first before forfeiting.

"I tried to pick two of the guys I thought would perform the best," men's gymnastic coach Bill Meade said. "Marcus Muholland went for us last year, but he's got a sinus problem."

"Scott's been doing real well, so he'll take (Muholland's) place at this meet."

Competing for Illinois State are sophomore Karen Giroux and freshman Bonnie Higgins.

"It's really early for us," Illinois State coach Kim Montaggriff said. "We're not really very polished. We're just using this for experience."

Scott Belanger performs on the rings Wednesday afternoon during practice. The gymnastics team, coached by Bill Meade, opens its season Nov. 11 at Northern Illinois at the second annual mixed-pairs meet.

Giroux's strongest event is the uneven bars. Higgins performs best on the vault and the balance beam, Montaggriff said.

Mixed-pairs meets were first introduced to the gymnastics world in 1980, when the United States competed in West Germany to compensate for the boycott of the Moscow Olympic Games.

Rhoades' team hungry for win

By David Gallianetti
Staff Writer

Football coach Rick Rhoades claims his team needs a win at Southwest Missouri Saturday. Oh boy does it need a win.

"It wouldn't make any difference if we were playing the little sisters of the poor or the Cleveland Browns — we need a win big-time," Rhoades said.

"We have played reasonably well the last three weeks and lost two games. This is an extremely big game. We really need to win."

Freshman Scott Gabbert will again start at quarterback, as Rhoades said he anticipates Fred Gibson being out for the rest of the season.

"His condition is exactly the same. We already assumed he is not going to be here for the rest of the year."

Rhoades said the increasing number of injuries is really hurting in the win-loss column.

"I feel if Gibson doesn't get hurt we would have won the Northern Illinois game. That's nothing against Reggie (Edwards). Any time a guy comes in cold in a pressure situation, it's tough."

"Any time you lose your starting quarterback it's a problem. We are going to ignore the injuries and keep on playing hard."

Among the other Salukis who will be on the injured list for this week are offensive lineman Vince DeBlasio, who

"It wouldn't matter if we were playing the little sisters of the poor or the Cleveland Browns — we need a win big-time."

—Rick Rhoades

Rhoades said may be back next week for Youngstown State, and defensive tackle Scott Hardee, who will be out for the rest of the season.

Split end Chontal Brown, who was taken from McAndrew Stadium by ambulance from practice Tuesday with a strained neck, was back practicing with the team Wednesday.

The attitude of the team following the Kentucky game is upbeat, Rhoades said.

"I think we are positive about the effort because it was a good effort. Everyone is working hard."

In playing the Bears, the Salukis will be facing yet another team that runs the wishbone. Rhoades said the two teams' methods are similar, but Southwest Missouri has been doing it longer.

"Theirs is our big brother. They have been doing it for four years; we have been

Swim teams prepare for season openers

By John Walby
Staff Writer

The swimming and diving teams begin their first meet of the fall season Saturday at the Western Illinois Relays in Macomb with a roster of new faces.

"We'll have a young team, especially on the women's side," swimming coach Doug Ingram said. "We'll make some rookie mistakes, but as long as we learn from them and make progress for the future the coaching staff will be happy."

For the women's team, 17 of the 26 swimmers are freshmen.

"We'll have to put them (freshmen) in there and see how they go at it and handle competition," Rick Walker, assistant swimming coach, said.

However, among the freshman ranks, diver Laine Owen of Norman, Okla., is expected to perform well for the team.

Three of the top swimmers are sophomores: Annette von Jouanne and Tricia Rothenbach, and junior Kathi Wire.

The men's team, though described as young, is returning 18 letterwinners, three of which are NCAA All-Americans.

Men's tennis to finish year in Oak Hill Invitational field

By Megan Hauck
Staff Writer

The men's tennis team will end its fall season in the cold this weekend at the Oak Hill Invitational in Belleville.

The nine-day tournament will feature Big 8 Iowa State, Southwest Missouri, Arkansas, Southwest Baptist, SIU-E and SIU-C.

"SIU-E has a pretty good team," Coach Dick LeFevre said. "We played them in practice matches last spring, and they won most of the matches."

Arkansas has a good reputation, but SIU-C hasn't played them in years, LeFevre said.

"It's hard telling what they'll look like," he said.

"The coach is a Swede and recruits strongly in Sweden."

Swedes have a rich tradition of producing strong players, including professional players Mats Wilander and Stefan Edberg.

LeFevre said he plans with stick his recently-altered doubles teams of Mickey Maul and Joe Demeterco; Fabiano Ramos and George Hime; and Jairo Aldana and Juan Martinez.

After the meet in Belleville, the Salukis will hang up their racquets until January. However, LeFevre said trainers will try to keep the men in shape.

"We send them to trainers and they give them a list of things to do," he said.
